No Diversion of Arkansas Water to Parched Texas

Even though I wasn't writing for it I followed The Star all the four months of my medical siege at Sarasota, Fla., and one of the tear-sheets I brought home with me for later comment was from the Nov. 13th issue—which carried an Associated Press dispatch quoting the Texarkana Gazette as saying that Texas officials are looking toward Millwood and other reservoirs on Little River and its tributaries as sources of supply for water-short Texas.

Whoever wrote that report for Texarkana Gazette has, like the unnamed Texas water officials, a short memory. There is no chance whatever of Texas tapping Arkansas rivers for the benefit of the Lone Star's cities.

That issue was settled a couple of decades ago when Texas indicated it would attempt to divert water from Red River to help Dallas. This editor promptly brought the matter to the attention of Arkansas' delegation in Congress—and got pledges that Texas' attempted theft would be stopped in its tracks. The same pledge extends to Little River and its reservoirs, for Little River is a tributary which flows into Red River just a mile north of Fulton.

If population in Texas has outrun its native water supply I would say that's just Texans' hard luck. Instead of stealing Arkansas' water thirsty Texans should consider moving to our state.

That was our position two decades ago, in the case of Red River, and was endorsed by the Arkansas senators and congressmen—and the same endorsement presumably still stands for Little River, which is one of the Red's tributaries.

Postal Stamp Hike to 8¢ Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of mailing a letter probably will go up this spring as the debt-ridden U.S. Postal Service takes on the trappings of a private corporation.

The stamp for a first class letter is expected to increase from six cents to eight cents in April but Postmaster General Winton M. Blount says that may not be enough to match higher wage costs.

The nine-member board of governors, to be sworn in individually the next few days under recess appointments by President Nixon, has yet to meet.

But the new law requires conversion of the postal service by Aug. 12 from an executive agency to a semiautonomous corporate-like business paying its own way. The deficit this fiscal year may reach $2.4 billion.

Collective bargaining between postal management and employees, authorized in the law, begins Jan. 20. Blount says the resulting contract may force up costs.

Postal officials estimate a 2-cent increase in first class postage would raise about $1.5 billion a year and, coupled with boosts in second and third class mailing, should enable the service to break even when Congress subsidizes public services such as free mailing of materials to the blind.

Youths Register as Lobbyists

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Eleven Little Rock teen-agers, calling themselves the Arkansas Youth Lobby, registered Thursday to lobby in the state legislature in behalf of the 18-year-old vote.

The group registered with the secretary of the state Senate in accordance with a state law that requires registration of all lobbyists.

Congress recently enacted a law lowering the voting age to 18 in all states, but the U. S. Supreme Court ruled that the law was valid only for federal elections.

Arkla Insists Gas Bills Are Going Up

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An official of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. said Thursday that gas bills are going up because of the natural gas shortage, but that the increase will be much greater if Arkla is not permitted to abandon its longterm contracts with industrial customers.

Edward N. Henderson of Shreveport, La., vice president of Arkla, made the statement Thursday during a state Public Service Commission hearing. The PSC is considering withdrawing its approval of Arkla's longterm contracts with some 60 plants in Arkansas.

The PSC has ordered Arkla and the plants to show why it should not cancel the contracts and set uniform rates that industries would pay for gas just as it sets rates on residential and commercial customers.

Arkla is supporting the move, but many of the industries are opposing it.

Henderson's testimony completed Arkla's case before the commission. During his testimony, Henderson said Arkla's "gas supply situation would reach a crisis stage" if the $105 million Anadarko pipeline project is not built.

Arkla officials testified earlier in the week that contracts for furnishing natural gas to large industries are threatening the utility's ability to replenish its dwindling gas supply.

Federal Reserve Board Drops Discount Rate 3rd Time in 90 Days

By MIKE REILLY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board, putting another twist in the downward spiral of interest costs, has dropped the discount rate for the third time in less than 90 days.

The board Thursday approved a reduction of the discount rate charged most member reserve banks from 5½ per cent to 5¼ per cent, the lowest since mid-1968. The drop also indicates a change in the pattern usually followed in discount-interest rate changes.

In the past, the board has taken the lead over lenders and dropped the discount rate to loosen money markets. Member banks generally reacted by cutting their prime rate—the interest they charge their biggest and best customers.

But, Thursday, the discount rate slash came after major banks across the nation reduced prime rates this week from 6 3/4 per cent to 6½ per cent.

The prime rate is a bellwether for other, more consumer-related rates. When it falls, inter-

The fountain at First National Bank looked like this late Thursday but the ice built even higher during the night and continued cold just might cut the fountain's water off. Russia Pours Arms Into Egypt, Syria

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — At least six Soviet cargo ships have delivered jet fighters and other military hardware to Egypt and Syria within the last 10 days, Pentagon sources say.

The Russian vessels passed through the Dardanelles from the Black Sea, according to American experts, carrying about 20 crated aircraft, including MIG21's, SU7 and helicopters. Also spotted on deck were cases believed containing spare parts and other materiel.

The vessels, observed by U. S. reconnaissance planes, unloaded cargo at Latakia, a port in northern Syria, and in Alexandria, a major Egyptian port.

One big Russian vessel, the Molodogvardsk, apparently tried to mask its true destination, sources said by notifying Turkish authorities the ship was bound for Algeria.

But it was observed later See RUSSIA POURS (On Page Ten)

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National Weather Service is predicting a warming trend for Arkansas, following the onslaught of a cold wave which plunged temperatures around the state.

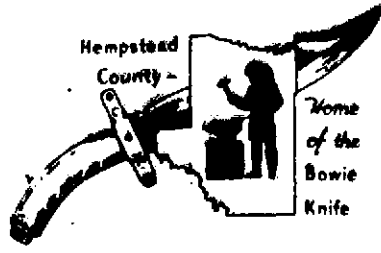

In addition, the weather service says that skies will begin to clear around the state today and tonight.

Thursday, Arkansans shivered as the low pressure system moved through the state causing snow to fall on sections of Southern Arkansas.

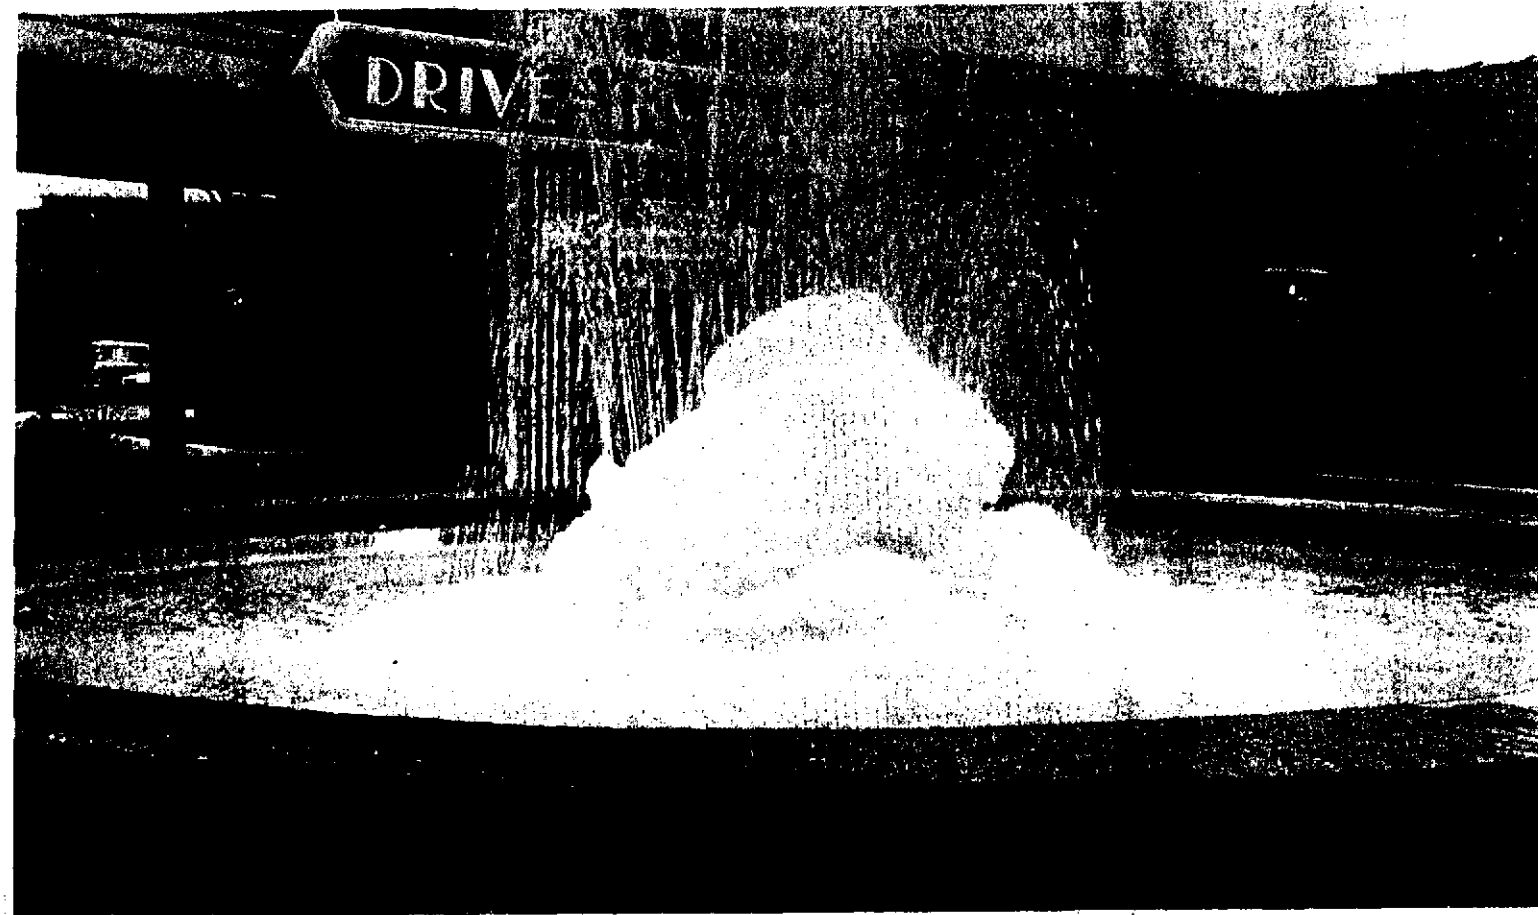

The highs Thursday ranged from 23 at El Dorado to 31 at Harrison.

Overnight lows were Fayetteville, 10; Harrison, 12; Jonesboro, 25; Pine Bluff, 26; Texarkana, 26; El Dorado, 23; Memphis, 25; and Little Rock, 25.

Pre-precipitation recorded during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today included four hundredths of an inch at El Dorado and a trace of snow.

Bumpers Has 20-30 Vital Bills Ready

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. elect Dale Bumpers says his legislative program will consist of 20 to 30 bills and that the "most vital" would be a measure to carry out major reorganization of state government.

Bumpers, interviewed by a panel of newsmen of television station KATV for a program that is to be shown tonight, said he hoped to have his program on the desks of members of the General Assembly when it convenes Monday.

KATV newsmen also interviewed Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and his remarks will be shown tonight. During the interview, Rockefeller said his historians will probably assess his four years in office as that of a "good governor with an innovative administration."

Rockefeller said his relationship with the legislature was one of the most difficult problems he faced during his administration.

Asked about his accomplishments, Rockefeller said his administration had successfully cleaned up some of the scandals in the state, restored confidence in state government and established a two-party system.

Bumpers did not say whether tax proposals will be included among the legislation he submitted in the first week of the session. Asked about the possibility that he will seek new taxes, Bumpers said: "We're been working on that today."

The governor-elect said he felt a "high responsibility" to finance the programs he discussed during the campaign. "In some areas we're going to have to have more revenue to find what I talked about in the campaign," he said.

Although Bumpers has not committed himself to seek new taxes, he has said he will ask for them if he finds that additional revenue is needed.

Bumpers said his plan for governmental reorganization alone would not save enough money "soon enough" to provide the additional revenue to finance the programs he has talked about.

He said he had talked with state legislators at length about restructuring and he was hopeful it will be approved. He also said he was "optimistic" that the legislature will approve the rest of his program.

Strike Ends at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—A strike that began last May 18 at the Brown Manufacturing Co. has ended.

Officials said Thursday that an agreement had been reached on a contract between the firm and the United Furniture Workers of America.

Bomb Blast Near Soviet Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bomb exploded in an alley outside the Soviet Embassy's cultural building here early today. Police said there were no injuries.

The State Department sent a man to deliver an immediate apology for the bombing.

About 30 minutes after the bombing on a quiet residential street several blocks from the main Soviet Embassy, a young woman called the Washington bureau of The Associated Press and said:

"I'm going to repeat this message once, so take it down. The Soviet Cultural Building on 18th Street has been bombed. This is a sample of things to come. Let our people go! Never again!"

The phrase "Never again!" is the motto of the militant Jewish Defense League, which has staged several anti-Soviet demonstrations in this country during the last year.

Police said the bomb smashed a solid metal door leading to a court yard behind the Soviet building, and shattered windows in buildings on both sides of the alley. The blast was heard by residents several blocks away.

An undetermined number of persons reside in the four-story brick building but none was hurt, although the blast threw a small child out of bed, according to Leonid V. Shchervakov, deputy chief consul of the embassy. He arrived at the scene after the explosion.

The building also houses the embassy's press relations department and information office for Soviet Life magazine.

Police said they could not determine immediately what kind of bomb was set off but a fire department official said fragments were recovered.

The State Department said it sent Steven E. Steiner, a Soviet specialist, to the main embassy to "express our regrets." Steiner and an embassy official visited the bombing scene.

A State Department spokesman said "We have during the last two months made arrangements with the Executive Protection Service to increase protection of Soviet facilities in both Washington and New York."

Man Dies From Exposure

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Lawrence Trezvant, 50, of Little Rock was found dead of exposure a block from his home Thursday, county Coroner Gordon Holt said.

The body was found by a passerby, police said. Trezvant was last seen by a relative about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. The temperature in the Little Rock area dropped to 16 degrees Wednesday night.

Jobless Rate Highest in Nine Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment climbed to six per cent in December, the highest rate in nine years, despite the return to work of men displaced by the General Motors strike, the Labor Department reported today.

The development contradicted the forecasts of administration officials who had contended that joblessness, which hit 5.8 per cent of the labor force in November, would diminish when the auto strikers returned to their plants.

The report showed there were 4.6 million idle men and women in December. This was the same as in November, but the seasonal contraction of the labor force caused the adjusted rate of joblessness to rise by about 120,000 persons in the seasonally adjusted annual rate.

Average weekly earnings of factory workers increased by $1.03 in December as a result of a slight increase in average hourly rates and a gain of one-tenth of an hour in the factory work week, to 39.7 hours.

The unemployment rate for white workers remained at 5.5 per cent in the month, but the rate for Negroes, which declined slightly in November, returned to its October level of 9.3 per cent.

British Envoy to Uruguay Is Kidnaped

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — British Ambassador Geoffrey Jackson was kidnaped this morning and is in the hands of the Tupamaros guerrillas, Montevideo police announced.

Persons claiming to be witnesses of the abduction telephoned radio stations saying it was carried out minutes before 10 a.m., when the ambassador, his driver and two guards arrived at the British Embassy on Aibar and Buenos Aires streets in Montevideo.

They said the ambassador's aides were beaten into submission, and the car carrying the ambassador was driven away by the kidnapers.

The auto, which bore diplomatic markings, was reported found a short time later a few blocks away.

The information was carried on Radio Station Espectador in Montevideo.

The Tupamaro guerrillas, a leftist urban terrorist group that has operated for several years in the Montevideo area, has held two other foreigners as hostages for more than five months.

Claude L. Fly, a U.S. soils expert, has been in Tupamaro custody since he was kidnaped from his place of work last Aug. 7.

Aloysio Dias Gomide, a Brazilian consul, was kidnaped by the Tupamaros from his home on July 31 and has been held longer in custody than any other political kidnap victim.

A third kidnap victim, Dan Mittrione, a U.S. police expert, was executed by the Tupamaros shortly after he was kidnaped, on July 31.

Extension Service Plans Tax Meetings

Hempstead County poultry producers will be given an opportunity to learn more about Income and Social Security Taxes at a meeting on Monday, January 11.

The meeting will start at 7:00 p.m. and will be held at the Conference Room of the Post Office Building at Hope. Instructors will be local Extension Agents and J. O. Kumpke, Extension Farm Management Specialist from Little Rock.

Emphasis will be placed on the 1969 Tax Laws as they affect poultry producers. All poultry farmers are urged to attend along with their wives. Even though you hire a tax consultant to figure your taxes, you can obtain a great amount of helpful information.

SW Electric Co. Gives $50 to 4-H Group

This makes the 24th year Southwestern Electric Power Company has presented a $50 contribution to the Hempstead County 4-H Club Council. Otis Stobaugh, of Fayetteville, made the presentation to Calvin J. Caldwell during December 1970.

Southwestern is pleased to make this annual contribution to the 4-H Club Councils in each county or parish in which the company operates, leaving to the discretion of the Councils how the money will be used.

"We are honored to be associated with the 4-H Clubs, their leaders, and the people of the Extension Service and are proud of their efforts," said Mr. Stobaugh. "Their work has always been outstanding and the energy with which they attack problems exemplifies their motto, 'To Make the Best Better'." We sincerely hope that we shall be able to continue making investments in our youth. We know that the activity of this group is making a great contribution to the continued growth, progress and freedom of America."

The gas supply was almost lost Tuesday in Mena, almost a year to the day since service to the town went out during sub-

Laird Talks Over Cutbacks in Saigon

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird arrived in Saigon today to discuss more big cutbacks in America's forces in Vietnam, including withdrawal of the last 25,000 Marines by June.

Laird and Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, arrived from Thailand after a meeting there with Premier Thanom Kittikachorn and a visit to U Taphao, the big coastal air base used by American B52s bombing the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Disengagement of American forces from the war was the major item on the agenda for Laird's three-day visit to Vietnam.

U.S. strength in Vietnam last week was 335,800 men, and President Nixon has ordered this reduced to 284,000 by May 1. Informed sources said another cutback is being planned to start immediately after that date to reduce the American force to 250,000 men or less during the summer.

Half the Marines still in Vietnam, the 12,500 men of the 5th Regiment and support units, are already listed for withdrawal by May 1. The sources said the other 12,500 Leathernecks of the 1st Regiment and its support units would be pulled out during the summer.

The 1st Marine Aircraft Wing is also included in the cutback.

U.S. troop strength in Vietnam reached a peak of 543,400 in April 1969, two months before Nixon announced the progressive reduction of American forces in Vietnam. En route to Saigon, Laird told a news conference in Paris that the first phase of the administration's Vietnamization program would be completed by midsummer and thereafter American forces would be limited to logistics, air support and security roles.

Laird's schedule called for meetings with President Nguyen Van Thieu; U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker; Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of American forces in Vietnam, and Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, the deputy commander.

Weyand flew to Phnom Penh Thursday and met with Premier Lon Nol and other leaders so he could give Laird a report on the current situation.

It was learned that large South Vietnamese forces are now in position to launch new operations in Cambodia aimed at reopening Route 4, Phnom Penh's highway to the sea. North Vietnamese have blocked the highway since mid-November, causing shortages of gasoline, fuel oil and other imported items in the Cambodian capital. Sources in Saigon said U.S. officials had considered an emergency airlift of oil and gas to Cambodia, but technical experts advised them the equipment to load and unload tanker planes was not available in Vietnam and Cambodia.

Soil Survey Underway in Hempstead

Our soil is our most precious and irreplaceable natural resource. Directly or indirectly it affects the life of every individual. To help better understand and use the soils of Hempstead County a soil survey was begun and is progressing steadily.

Soil Scientist Jim Hoelscher said, "A key factor of this work has been the friendly and helpful attitude of the people of Hempstead County."

The soils are examined from a core taken with a truck mounted probe or a hand auger. The physical and chemical properties of the soils are examined to a minimum depth of 5 feet. Then each different soil area is marked off on an aerial photo. A copy of these completed maps and the soil interpretations are available from Mr. George Brown, District Conservationist. The soil maps provide information useful for farming, forestry, building sites, septic tank filter fields, city-town planning commissions plus many other uses.

A large and very interesting variety of soil occur in Hempstead County. The soils vary from deep sands to plastic shrink-swell clays; excessively drained to poorly drained; extremely acid to strongly alkaline; and slopes range from level to steep.

Laboratory data is obtained from the University of Arkansas which is a cooperating agency in this soil survey. Additional laboratory data is obtained from the Arkansas State Highway Department.

This soil survey is made available by the Hempstead County Soil and Water Conservation District through the Soil Conservation Service.

Seeks Probe of Fund Cutoff

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Legal Defense Fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has asked for an investigation and cutoff of Title I funds at McNeil and Taylor schools in Columbia County.

The Fund, in letters to the U.S. Office of Education, says that Title I funds are being used at the two schools to upgrade programs and not to help poor children and the educationally deprived.

Snow Wave Hurlled Into Deep South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Winter maintained its week-long siege of arctic cold in the Southwest today and hurled a wave of snow and freezing rain into a wide stretch of the Deep South.

Four inches of snow blanketed Greenwood, Miss., and half an inch of ice glazed Natchez.

Schools were closed in communities in northern Louisiana and Mississippi because of icy or snowy roads.

Most schools also remained shut in northern New Mexico, including Albuquerque, because of cold-induced fuel shortages.

Six persons died in weather-related auto accidents in the South. Three were killed by a skidding truck as they stood on a central Louisiana roadside to flag traffic away from their car that slid into a bridge.

The National Weather Service advised that the worst of the Southern storm was yet to come. It issued heavy-snow warnings for parts of Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee.

Ice-storm warnings were posted over interior Louisiana, southern Mississippi and northern Alabama and Georgia.

Before swinging into the Deep South, the storm sideswiped

Probe Into Role of Organized Crime in Mail, Bank Thefts

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said today an extensive investigation was being conducted into the role of organized crime in the thefts of "many millions of dollars" in negotiable securities from brokerage houses, banks and the U.S. mails.

McClellan said the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, which he chairs, would hold public hearings this spring and that evidence would show an enormous traffic in stolen securities within the United States and in international markets.

A major part of the thefts, he said, result from "slipshod practices in safeguarding and transporting the securities."

Witnesses at the hearings will include leaders of the brokerage industry, officials of federal and local government agencies, and "certain persons with particular knowledge of the activities of organized crime in this field," the senator said.

McClellan said the subcommittee's staff has been making preliminary inquiries for several months. He said that staff findings show conclusively that organized crime elements have taken advantage of operational weaknesses and inadequate security procedures in the brokerage industry to steal and market negotiable securities, especially U.S. Treasury notes and bonds.

The investigation of securities thefts, McClellan said, is the first in a series of inquiries on organized crime now being conducted by the subcommittee. He said subsequent hearings are expected to disclose in detail how organized criminals, including but not limited to members of Cosa Nostra, operate in gambling, labor racketeering, credit card theft and fraud, the pornography traffic, smuggling and distribution of narcotics and in a number of other criminal fields.

Another Jew Sentenced in Russia

By MICHAEL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — A military court has sentenced another Jew to a long term in a labor camp for plotting to hijack a Soviet airliner to Israel, and Pravda charged today that "imperialist propaganda" is waging a campaign to talk Soviet Jews into emigrating to Israel.

Jewish sources said Soviet Army Lt. Vulf Zalmanson was given a 10-year sentence in Leningrad Thursday for taking part in the plot last June to hijack a small Aeroflot plane to Israel. His term was five years less than the maximum sentences given earlier to other defendants in the case.

Zalmanson was the 15th Russian to face trial in the hijack plot. Two women and one child were released. Two Jewish defendants received death sentences which were later commuted to 15-year labor camp terms. The rest of the defendants, all but two of them Jewish, received labor camp sentences ranging from 4 to 15 years.

Despite the tough talk in the Soviet press on what Pravda called the "Jewish question," the trial of nine other Jews in Leningrad was postponed Wednesday 10 minutes after it

Friday, January 8, 1971 began. The official reason was that one of the defendants had come down with flu. Jewish informants said the trial will open again next week, but the Moscow correspondent of the French Communist party newspaper L'Humanite said he had learned that the Soviet government had decided to halt prosecution.

Twelve to 14 other Jews are reported awaiting trials in Soviet prisons in Riga, Kishinev and Odessa.

Protest against the Leningrad trial and other trials reportedly planned for Jews in the Soviet Union continued in the United States, and counterprotests continued from the Kremlin.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, said "world imperialism and Zionism" are "stooping to vile methods" in an effort to undermine the patriotism of the Soviet Union's Jewish citizens.

"It is common knowledge that these citizens, born, reared and educated in the U.S.S.R. have broad, equal rights with all members of Soviet society," the newspaper said.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said Thursday that an "anti-Soviet campaign is being fired up in the United States" and that "such activities suit someone in Washington."

But Izvestia said "Tel Aviv extremists" are clearly behind the campaign and that there is a "connection between Israeli hawks and the American Zionists-pogromists."

New Colon Cancer Test Developed

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — A researcher says an inexpensive new test that accurately detects cancer of the colon should be given to every adult to curb the 54,000 deaths caused annually by the disease.

"Although it is often curable by surgery, cancer of the colon kills more Americans each year than any other cancer except lung cancer," Dr. David H. Gregor said Thursday.

Figures compiled by the American Cancer Society, he said, indicate colonic cancer strikes 73,000 persons in this country each year and kills 54,000 annually.

"Unlike lung cancer, which kills 59,000 persons each year," Gregor said in an interview, "early diagnosis of cancer of the colon and rectum often leads to cure."

An assistant clinical professor in medicine at Ohio State University, Gregor has spent more than five years in the development of a test to enable physicians to spot such cancerous growths.

In a report prepared for the National Conference on Cancer of the Colon and Rectum today, Gregor said of 900 patients he has tested 5 per cent showed positive reactions.

Called the hemocult—for hidden blood—slide technique, the test is fast and accurate, he said. It involves having patients smear samples of their stools for three days on a paper slide treated with a resin.

"The slide comes inserted in a small envelope for mailing to the laboratory," he said. "A special developer is applied to each sample and if it turns blue it indicates there is intestinal bleeding."

Patients whose tests indicate hidden blood are called in for further examinations using such methods as barium enemas, Gregor said, adding that test materials cost less than $1 per patient.

TV's Pioneers Recall Goofs Of Live Shows

By JOAN CROSBY

LOS ANGELES—(NEA)—Lucille Ball remembers TV's good old days as the ones where she was a trend-setter. Carol Burnett remembers them as the time when dressing room space was at such a premium she found herself changing in the same small elevator as Garry Moore. Broderick Crawford remembers them as the day he couldn't remember the name of a popular soap. Bob Hope remembers them for a clumsy prop man who was always falling into a set, requiring Bob to ad-lib to explain the sudden crash.

Television's good old days were not that long ago. But they can never return.

Today TV presents a slick, technically perfect product which is most often lacking in immediacy.

In the old days, a make-up man rushed onto a set to apply blood to someone who had been wounded, and the camera picked him up doing it. An actor forgot his dialogue and said to Eva Marie Saint, "This is where I get off." The setting was an airplane and it happened on One Man's Family.

Peggy Wood, who starred for so many years in I Remember Mama, recalls playing a scene with a kitten in her arms. The kitten began to play with a locket she was wearing and the camera caught a close-up of the action.

Miss Wood said, "Once television stopped being live and went to film, they would never have gotten that shot. They would have had to re-light the scene for the kitten's close-up, then try to get the cat to play with the locket again."

Because the technicians had no rules which said "it can't be done," they often got shots that today, in a technically perfect age, really can't be done.

But most memories of the early days of TV concern things that went wrong.

Hope recalls that, an hour before his first TV show in New York, "somebody did something and the sprinklers went on in all the dressing rooms. We had one hour to replace the wardrobe."

He also remembers that the show was called "a milestone in TV." That was by New York's most influential critic in New York's most influential paper. (Then and still Jack Gould of the Times.)

Hope says he was feeling pretty happy as he got into a cab to go to NBC for his second TV show. "But the cabbie recognized me," Bob says, "and asked if I was going to do another TV show. I told him I was and he said, 'Your first wasn't too good, you know.' I asked him who he thought he was to say that and he answered, 'I'm the people.'"

Hope thought the whole thing was so funny that he had his writers get to work in a hurry, hired actor Tom Pedi and did an enlarged skit based on the cabbie.

Broderick Crawford—who says he thinks these days, when he stars in CBS-TV's The Interns, are "the good old days,"—remembers doing a Lux Video Theater.

"There was so much to remember in a short space of time, I forgot I was also supposed to do a commercial at the end of the show. Someone grabbed me and stuck me in front of the camera and I remembered. I began, 'With this face I still use—' and I couldn't remember Lux. I remembered Lava and Fels Naptha, but I couldn't remember Lux."

Ross Martin is a veteran of live TV, but only once does he recall going blank. He had to refer to a character with an Italian name. As his memory guide, he used a composer by the same name. "But when I got on the air, I suddenly couldn't remember whether I was trying to recall a piano sonata, in which case the name was Scarlatti, or a violin concerto, in which case the name was Corelli."

He got off the spot by saying, "She'll see you now," instead of using the name. But the other actor said, "Who?" and Ross ad-libbed. "You come all the way to see someone and you don't know her name?"

Carol Burnett, who played opposite Buddy Hackett in 1956 in Stanley, a live, cue-cardless situation comedy, recalls that Buddy's ad-libbing helped her learn a great deal about ease before the camera.

"I also recall going on an audition for Chance of a Lifetime and being rejected because I was too loud for TV," Carol recalls. "But I guess the greatest memory came from Garry Moore's show. There was absolutely no dressing room space near the stage. My room was on the third floor and, if I had a fast change, there was no time to get up there and back. So I arranged with a page for him to hold the small elevator. Then my dresser and I would dash in, close the door, and I'd

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A comedy-variety special these days in television needs more than the mere pre-emption of a couple of situation comedies. There are, after all, comedy-variety hours in the regular schedules six nights a week.

"Changing Scene" on ABC Thursday night, was just another forgettable hour of lively dancing and pleasant music. Engelbert Humperdinck sang romantic songs and—at one mildly startling point—a rock hymn. Barbara Eden, still dressed as if she just popped out of her genie bottle, was there for a couple of numbers. There were hordes of young, writhing dancers and singers.

And, alas, there was the comedy. It started with weak jokes about the name Engelbert Humperdinck, hardly legitimate since it's not his real name but one he chose because it sounds funny.

But the blackouts and sight gags were the worst. Don Adams, for instance, introduced a fearless lion tamer, saying he would thrust his arm in the animal's mouth. There was an off-camera scream and Adams' line was, "Let's hear it for Lefty!" There are times one wishes "Laugh-In" had not rediscovered either the sight gag or the blackout.

The funniest performer was a country style yarn spinner named Jud Strunk—maybe he thinks that's a funny name, too who rambled through some Down-East stories. It was a change, anyway, from the usual Down-South accents of yarn spinners.

Earlier on NBC, Flip Wilson, with Bing Crosby as a guest, maintained his high standard of comedy. His show is really special. Funniest bit of that hour was Flip playing Geraldine, this time an untouchable bunny in a Playboy club.

If you have wondered where the sponsors went, it was that—away. But they'll be back, at least most will. Television's commercial breaks these days and nights are filled with an exceptionally large number of plugs-for-upcoming programs and with public service announcements about worthy causes ranging from Red Cross to antilitter appeals.

Some obviously is caused by the disappearance of cigarette advertising, but not all. Some sponsors normally reduce or eliminate their ads at this time of the year, an effort to balance off heavy pre-Christmas advertising. In addition, networks are now willing to sell 30-second commercial spots where they once limited them to one minute.

"One night Garry had a quick change. He didn't know about me, and he made the same arrangements. I was in there changing when he burst in. I just about died, but he said, 'Just turn your back and go on, honey.' Someone asked Garry if he peeked and he said, 'In live TV, there is no time to peek.'"

Lucille Ball says she has lots of memories, "but I don't call them the good old days. I guess the outstanding memory is when my baby was born."

"I also remember doing the show one night and having a man, who had been hiding all day, appear from under the bleachers and wander into the scene. He scared me to death but he only wanted my autograph."

"I've done several end-of-the-era shows, where we have changed format, and I've been nostalgic each time."

"I don't really look back that much. If I did I wouldn't be able to function. But it was nice when we were trend-setters, when our writers came up with situations that hadn't been done and redone and done and redone. Through the years, you get back to copying yourself with situations. There is a different feeling with the young people today who don't think television is as important as it really is. With us, TV was never a by-product. It was the most important thing of all."

SHE'S NO FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

Dear Helen: Recently our little seven-year-old girl went to the hospital. Upon admission, she watched open-eyed and without tears as the technician took blood samples. There she was told she was a "very brave young lady."

Arriving at her destination, fourth floor pediatrics, she heard again how brave she was.

After a restful night, our brave patient was taken to the operating room. When she awoke in a strange recovery room, she became frightened. Then the tables were turned. Now the nurse in charge called her "cry-baby, spoiled" and a few other choice words, even though the anesthetic hasn't worn off yet.

Well, thanks to that "devoted nurse," our little patient now hates hospitals and doctors' offices, and especially nurses.

I wonder if this woman would use the same forceful hand and harsh voice to her own children—IF SHE HAS ANY? —DISGUSTED MOTHER

Dear Mother:

Probably. A good nurse isn't always a gentle soul. That's why it's best, if possible, for a parent to be at the bedside when the child comes out from under the anesthetic.

As for lasting traumas: Not if you handle this incident wisely; which means, don't make a big thing of it. —H.

Dear Helen: After reading your column on "favoritism in families" I just had to write this letter.

As I grew up I could list a thousand and one examples of the way my parents showed favoritism to my brothers and neglected ME. One day when my older brother was home on leave from Vietnam, he, my younger brother and I sat up all night talking.

Somehow we got around to the subject of "who was the favorite." I shared with my brothers how lonely and isolated I felt because the folks made so much over them. . . one was older and got all the new stuff; the other was younger and got his own way; one was athletic; the other a brain; one had a delightful personality; the other was handsome. Poor little me was Miss In-between Nobody. So I thought.

"You?" my older brother exclaimed. "Why I thought I was neglected and you two were the chosen ones." And on went his list: My brother and I both got high grades; we were better looking, and favored as the youngest and the only girl, besides my being the only granddaughter on both sides.

My younger brother, the silent member of the family, shrugged his shoulders and said, "And here all the time I thought I was the outcast. Do you know what it's like to live up to the athletic prowess and academic standards you have set? And so it went. . .

I guess when there is more than one child in the family there will be times when each feels he or she is the least loved. —NEGLECTED, OR WAS IT?

Dear Neg: How right you are—and this even in families where communication is no great problem. —H.

Three Games Here Tonight; Girls Win

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Taking the lead from start to finish last night at Blevins, the Hope Ladycats coasted to a 59-47 victory over the Hornets for their fifth win against six losses.

Also, the B-Bruins pounded the Hornets, 73-56, in the last game, while earlier the Kittycats won their seventh game, 39-22.

Tonight the Magnolia Panthers invade Jones field house for three games, beginning at 5:30 p.m. with the Bobkittens, followed by the B-Bruins and Bobcats. This is the Bobcats first district game, and promises to be a good one.

Using some fairly good ball control the Ladycats got things started when Janet McCain and Betty Rodden each hit a basket for a 4-0 lead.

With 5:10 to go in the quarter, after two separate free throws by Blevins, Dee Singleton found the goal and immediately sank two buckets for an early 8-2 margin. McCain and Rodden then opened the lead out with layups and jumpshots for a 16-10 lead moving into the second period.

Trading scores about even, for the first few minutes the Ladycats then began stretching the lead after Rodden hit a long basket with 3:42 left in the half for a 26-14 margin. Baskets left McCain and Belinda East left the score at 34-19 during the half.

Starting out slowly in the second half, the Ladycats began to find the range and after Singleton sank a 15 footer with 4:58 left in the period, Hope began hitting and coasted the rest of the way with every one seeing action.

McCains rimroller and two free shots sat the Ladycats up with a 48-23 margin left with one quarter to play, during which everyone saw some action.

Cindy Hollis, Sandra Hamilton, and Betty Ruth Honeycutt, along with Brown, Judy Reyenga, and Janice Hobson all did outstanding on defense.

Rodden led Hope with 24, McCain had 22, and Singleton hit 11.

Later, the B-Bruins showed what strength they had by regaining a lost lead and then handing the Hornets a 73-56 loss to run Hope's B-team slate to a perfect 3-0 for the season.

Starting off very slowly, the Bruins called time out with 4:49 left in the period and trailing, 8-2. But immediately afterwards Roger Newton and James Bradley led a comeback and after Tim White hit a short two pointer, Hope finally held a 12-11 lead with 2:25 left.

After Bradley hit a couple of charity shots, Hope held a 18-13 lead moving into the second quarter.

This quarter saw the Bruins lose their lead to trail by seven and then in the last few seconds take it back for a narrow 35-33 score at the halfway mark.

Coming back out, Newton and White hit goals to keep the Bruins ahead, but with 1:38 left was tied the score at 45 all on a goal by Mike Morton.

However, the Bruins regained their shooting status and finished up quickly getting the last ten points of the quarter for a 55-45 margin with only one more period remaining.

With the score mounting as the B-Bruins held a sizeable 64-49 lead after Newton sank a jumper, the bench began emptying as everyone got to play.

Leading Hope was Newton with 19 and Bradley with 14, while Morton led the Hornets with 19 points.

Now, moving backwards, in the first game of the night, the Kittycats beat a determined Blevins girls team 39-22 and

Pork Cagers Tie Record in Victory

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas frittered away a 17-point halftime lead and then rallied behind Donnie Watts for a 110-101 overtime victory over Hardin-Simmons here Thursday night.

Watts, a 6-6 junior, scored seven of his 28 points during a 37-second span in the overtime period as the Razorbacks hiked their record to 4-7. Hardin-Simmons dropped to 4-6 for the season.

Arkansas led 55-38 at the half, but the Cowboys' Tom Johns sent the game into overtime when he tipped in a missed free throw with five seconds left to tie the game 96-96.

The Cowboys' Ray Williams led all scorers with 37 points and teammate Cliff Harris added 33.

Jody Bass scored 19 for Arkansas followed by Bobby Vint with 16, John Searles with 15 and Vernon Murphy and Almer Lee with 13 each.

The Razorbacks' 110 points ties a school record set in a 110-89 victory over TCU in 1955.

The Razorbacks open South-west Conference play here Saturday night against Texas.

Some Coaching Jobs Filled, Others Not

A good man is hard to find—claimed their seventh win against four losses.

At first, building up a 7-2 margin on baskets by Gigi Gladney and Karlene Coleman, the Kittycats seemed ready to run completely away, but mistakes and turnovers forced the score to be closer than it was last time when Hope won by about 30 points.

With Gladney hitting seven more points, Hope led at the end of the quarter, 14-4.

Taking the tipoff the Kittycats drove for another score and on to a halftime lead of 23-12, with the sharp offense began to move.

Emptying the bench in the second half, the Kittycats only scored 16 points in both quarters, but it was by far, enough to win.

Gladney hit the initial points of the second half, but Hope couldn't score again until Pogo Griffin sunk a free throw with only 2:38 left in the third period for a 26-14, Kittycat lead.

Six points by Gladney pushed the score to 32-16 entering the last period and from their on it was mostly Hope.

Gladney hit 32 points for the Kittycats while Coleman connected for five and Griffin for two.

Carol Frazier, Mona Rowe, and Sharon Ratliff did an outstanding job on defense with Gail East, Cindy Whitaker, Patsy Burch, Melissa Reece, Peggy McCorkle, and Peggy Fuller, all seeing action.

Chaos Could Result From Haywood Case

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) —

The court case of 21-year-old star Spencer Haywood today could result in chaos for professional sports or perhaps lead to a merger of the two pro basketball leagues.

Federal Judge Warren Ferguson was scheduled to hear arguments this afternoon in the bid by Haywood to continue playing for the Seattle SuperSonics of the National Basketball Association.

In this one, Commissioners Walter Kennedy of the NBA and Jack Dolph of the American Basketball Association appear to be in agreement — they don't want Haywood to win.

On the sidelines, the same could be true of professional football and baseball.

Kennedy said a decision favorable to Haywood "could mean any team in any of the sports could lure college players without regard to college education, eligibility or without regard to consitions or by-laws of professional leagues."

Thus it could negate the draft procedures in basketball, baseball or football.

Basically, Haywood went to federal court and obtained a temporary restraining order against the NBA enforcing its rule that no team can sign a player whose college class has not graduated.

The NBA has held firmly to this rule. The ABA, however, permitted Denver's Rockets to sign Haywood after his freshman year at Detroit as a financial hardship case.

After two years at Denver, Haywood became disenchanted, refused to return to the club and went to Superior Court asking his Denver contract be voided. No decision has yet been made.

Meanwhile, in Greenwich, Conn., Dolph asserted in another Associated Press interview, "I predict retaliatory measures will be taken by ABA clubs against NBA teams wherever possible."

Later he said, "I think it will bring the two leagues closer to merger than ever before."

Dolph's prediction to retaliatory measures was interpreted as another bidding war for college talent and for the services of established NBA players.

but it's sometimes harder finding a good coach in the National Football League.

The Cleveland Browns found what they were looking for, the Philadelphia Eagles decided to hold onto what they had and the Green Bay Packers continued to search high and low.

Nick Skorich, an assistant coach for seven years, was named to the head job with Cleveland Thursday in the latest round of pro football roulette and promptly announced:

"I don't think we're too far from being champions."

Philadelphia, despite rumors to the contrary, retained Jerry Williams even though the Eagles finished with a lackluster 3-10-1 record this year.

Eagles' owner Leonard Tose said he was letting Williams fulfill the third year of his three-year contract because of the team spirit and public feeling.

"I took into consideration the fact that the morale of the team was good when we were losing and that the sentiment of the fans, as evidenced from letters, were almost better than 90 per cent for Jerry fulfilling his contract," said Tose.

Green Bay, meanwhile, was eyeing Arizona State Coach Frank Kush, among others.

"I have been asked to talk to them... but I don't know much more than that," said Kush. "There's nothing like a definite offer."

The latest developments were a sign of the season in the NFL — the lull until the Super Bowl Jan. 17 when teams reevaluate themselves. That means coaching changes.

George Allen, who recently departed the Los Angeles Rams, hooked on with the Washington Redskins to replace Bill Austin and the St. Louis Cardinals cut Charley Winner in Wednesday's activity.

Skorich inked a three-year pact of undisclosed amount, but insisted he'd be in town longer.

"I intend to be here about 10 years," said the 49-year-old Skorich, apparently referring to his retirement age.

Casper and Palmer Share Campbell Lead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Billy

Casper had a share of the lead, Arnold Palmer had a mental lapse and three players had yet to finish in the first round of the $110,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

Casper, battling a heavy cold and hand-numbing chill, fired a five-under-par 66 Thursday and tied a pair of 28-year-old blonds — Tom Shaw and Bob Smith — for the top spot in the opening round of the first tournament on the 63-stop pro tour this year.

The start of play was delayed for about 30 minutes to allow frozen greens to thaw and early darkness caught Bill Brask, Bobby Greenwood, and Jack Montgomery still out on the Rancho Park Golf Club course.

They were scheduled to play their 18th hole before the start of the second round. None was in contention for the lead.

Palmer had a shot at it, until he took a triple-bogey seven, including a two-stroke penalty on the fifth hole, his 14th. The game's most famous player started on the 10th tee, turned two under and had two good birdie possibilities remaining when he stepped to the fifth tee.

He pulled his drive into the left rough near a tree with the ball resting against a beer can. Palmer moved the can and the ball moved slightly. He played the ball, hitting a three-iron into some trees and the ball ricocheting back to the fairway.

He was on in three and two-putted for a bogey five, then called the penalty on himself.

"The penalty was for playing the ball after it moved," he said. "I should have dropped it. It's something I knew but you don't always use what you know. I was a little hot from the bad drive and I just went ahead and hit it."

"And if I'd dropped it, it would have rolled out from under the tree and I've had had a clear shot at the green." He finished with a 71, well back in the pack.

Bob Payne was one stroke off the lead at 67 with eight others at 68. They are George Archer, Ray Floyd, Jerry Barber, Dale Douglass, Bob Lunn, John Schroeder, J.C. Snead and Bert Greene.

U.S. Open champ Tony Jacklin had a 69 and PGA titleholder Dave Stockton a 72.

"I've been making some good swings at it," said Casper, 1970 PGA Player of the Year and Masters champion. "I got about as much out of the round as I could."

He didn't have a bogey and didn't have a five on his card, taking birdies on the three par fives and running in birdie puts of 15 and 30 feet on two others.

Shaw, two-time tourney winner two years ago, had been in Florida practicing for six weeks after a winless 1970.

"I've got to try harder, work harder," he said. Shaw needed only 28 strokes on the greens and didn't have a bogey.

Smith, a non-winner in three years on the tour, turned in four under, three-putted the 10th, got it back on the 13th and moved into a share of the lead on the 15th with a 25-foot putt.

Ritger Takes Lead in Bowling

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Dick Ritger, a chunky right-hander from Hartford, Wis., and a nine-time PBA champion, captured five of eight games Thursday night to take the lead in the $75,000 U.S. Open Bowling Tournament.

Ritger went into the day's second session, which consisted of match play competition, in fourth place after he and 23 others survived the quarterfinal cut which reduced the bowlers from 62 to 23 semifinalists.

Mike Limongello of North Babylon, N.Y., is second at 8,915 and Dick Weber of St. Louis is third at 8,911. Weber is a four-time winner of the National All-Star meet, forerunner of the present U.S. Open.

The 24 bowlers will roll another 16 games in head to head competition today and the top five will qualify for the nationally-televised (ABC) finals at 3 p.m. (EST) Saturday.

Gifted politicians often lead embarrassing lives.

Semifinals in Women's Tennis Play

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billie Jean King and Ann Jones renew an old rivalry and Rosemary Casals opposes Nancy Richey Gunter in semifinals of the $15,000 British Motors Women's Pro Tennis Championships tonight.

Mrs. King of Long Beach, Calif., seeded No. 1, almost did not survive Thursday's night's quarterfinal against Francoise Durr of Colombes, France.

Miss Durr won the first set 6-4 and broke Mrs. King's service to tie the second one at 5-5, but Billie Jean then broke the French girl's service and held her own to take the second set 7-5 and roll on through the third set 6-1.

Mrs. Gunter of San Angelo, Tex., was too steady for Peachess Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich. in the other Thursday night match, winning 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

In afternoon matches Thursday San Francisco's Miss Casals had little trouble eliminating Mary Ann Curtis of St. Louis 6-1, 6-3, and Mrs. Jones of England had even easier going beating Kerry Melville of Australia, 6-1, 6-0.

Pete Rose May Replace Bob Tolan

CINCINNATI (AP) — Versatile Pete Rose looms as the replacement for Cincinnati Reds centerfielder Bobby Tolan who will be sidelined until at least June 1.

Tolan, who led the National League last year in stolen bases, underwent surgery at Christ Hospital here Thursday for a ruptured Achilles tendon, the same injury which plagued former Reds pitchers Jim Maloney in 1970.

In seven years with the Reds, Rose has played four different positions and apparently will switch from rightfield to center until Tolan returns. But Manager Sparky Anderson said that he has not made any decisions yet and General Manager Bob Howsam told him to take his time.

Bernie Carbo, and either Hal McRae or Lee May could round out the outfield.

Tolan was a key figure in Cincinnati's National League pennant drive in 1970 as he stole 57 bases, batted .316, hit 18 home runs and knocked in 80 runs. He scored 112 times.

Tolan ruptured the tendon during a Reds basketball game Wednesday night at Frankfurt, Ky.

IOC Trying to Work Out Olympic Rules

By JOHN FARROW Associated Press Sports Writer LONDON (AP) — Lord Killanin, a vice president of the International Olympic Committee (IOC), says he's learned more about the problems encountered by various sports from three days of talks here than he had in his 18 years as a committee member.

Killanin headed a committee of two other vice presidents—count Jean de Beaumont of France and Jonkheer Van Karnebeek of The Netherlands—which met with International federations in London. The session ended Thursday.

The IOC group moves to Paris for meetings Jan. 11-12 and then to Lausanne, Switzerland, for further talks Jan. 13-14.

Object behind the talks is to work out Olympic rules of eligibility in all sports.

Representatives of all 26 International federations are discussing their problems with the IOC committee.

At the end of the talks the three vice presidents will meet in Lausanne Jan. 15 to work out a report to the executive board, due to meet in the same city in March.

The most troublesome sport as far as the Olympics is concerned is skiing.

Avery Brundage, the octogenarian IOC president, recently disqualified 10 skiers for alleged violations of Olympic rules of amateurism.

Marc Hodler, president of the International Skiing Federation, and other top FIS officials talked over this matter with IOC committee in London

Thursday.

Afterwards Hodler said: "I'm confident all 10 skiers broke no rules—either IOC or FIS. IOC rules say that skiers can teach—not coach—athletes in the elementary principles of the sport."

"The case of the skiers involved is that they are allowed under IOC rules to take money to teach elementary skiing. The fee is governed by the money paid to local teachers," Hodler said.

The IOC committee will talk with the skating, volleyball, fencing, field hockey, canoeing, modern pentathlon and biathlon, equestrian, luge, bobsled and tobogganing federations in Paris.

It will meet soccer, gymnastics, shooting, basketball, handball, rowing, cycling, and wrestling officials in Lausanne.

Can't Believe Cowboy Back Not Picked

By DENNE H. FREEMAN Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS (AP) — Gil Brandt, player personnel director of the Dallas Cowboys, said today "It's unbelievable" that running back Duane Thomas wasn't selected National Football League offensive rookie of the year.

Dennis Shaw, Buffalo quarterback, got the honor and Brandt said "Buffalo went 14 quarters at one stretch with Shaw at quarterback and didn't score a touchdown."

Thomas, who was second in the balloting, didn't play except on the specialty teams until regular Calvin Hill was injured against Minnesota.

"We've only lost one game since Thomas started playing," Brandt said. "He got 803 yards in 10 games and in some of them—like Houston and Washington—he barely played in the second half. Without him we wouldn't be here (in the Super Bowl against Baltimore)."

Brandt said, "Shaw did well, but you should judge the rookie of the year on two things—1. Ability and 2. What he contributed to the team."

Brandt said the emergence of Thomas of West Texas State was the lift the Cowboys needed to propel them to the National Conference title.

Brandt said Thomas, who weighs 222-pounds and runs the 40 in 4.5, was a linebacker in high school and "just might make a good one in the pros."

But, Brandt quickly added, "He's never going to play there."

Burnett and Dicus in Hula Bowl

HONOLULU (AP) — The lack of talent is a frequent problem facing football coaches, but Stanford's John Ralston and SMU's Hayden Fry have something else to worry about — how to use all the talent they have.

Ralston and Fry's problem centers around selection of quarterbacks for the 25th annual Hula Bowl Classic which will cap the 1970 college season Saturday.

Ralston's choices in his North squad are: His own boy, 1970 Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett; Heisman runner-up Joe Theismann of Notre Dame and Rex Kern of Ohio State.

Fry finds himself in the same boat for the South team with Archie Manning of Ole Miss, Chuck Hixson of SMU and Dennis Dummit of UCLA.

The solution of who to start is only half the problem and will probably be settled in both cases with a toss of the coin.

After that, Ralston and Fry will have to decide when to change their signal callers to give all six of the outstanding quarterbacks a chance to show off for the pro scouts who'll be watching the action closely.

There's more to the game than quarterbacking and Fry's South team can count on that fantastic running back of Texas, Steve Worster, who gained 1,450 yards in three years for the Longhorns. With Worster will be Long Beach State's 228-pound tailback Leon Burns and Bill Burnett and Chuck Dicus, who were Arkansas teammates.

In his North backfield, Ralston will be drawing on John Brockington of Ohio State, Joe Ornduna of Nebraska and Stan Brown of Purdue.

Kickoff is set for 4:45 p.m. (EST), early enough for mainland viewers who will be watching the silver anniversary of the Hula Classic live via satellite.

Two Arkansas Players in Tournament

LOS ANGELES (AP) — R.H. Sikes of Springdale, Ark., shot a one-under-par 70 Thursday in the first round of the $110,000 Glen Campbell - Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

Sikes had nines of 33-37. Dick Crawford of Bella Vista, Ark., had a 72 with nines of 39-33.

Three players tied for the first-round lead at 66.

Robinson Leads Bucks to Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Foul trouble isn't such a burden when the Big O is around to lighten the load.

With Lew Alcindor on the bench for much of the game because of foul trouble, Oscar Robinson, the Big O of the National Basketball Association, scored 35 points to lead the Milwaukee Bucks to a 116-106 victory over the New York Knicks.

Alcindor also found time to score 24 points and the Bucks beat the Knicks for the first time in three meetings this season. Dave DeBusschere topped the Knicks with 32 points.

Los Angeles took Cleveland 110-105 and Baltimore downed Atlanta 110-102 in other NBA games.

In the American Basketball Association, Virginia beat the Floridians 118-113, Utah downed Texas 114-107 and Pittsburgh belted Denver 131-116.

Cleveland held a 43-42 lead with 5:22 left in the first half, but Los Angeles moved to a 13-point halftime lead and went on to send the Cavaliers to their seventh straight loss. Happy Hairston scored 25 points and Jerry West 23 for Los Angeles. Bobby Smith led Cleveland with 23.

Baltimore overcame Atlanta by outgunning the Hawks 30-8 in the final quarter for the fifth straight loss. Earl Monroe paced Baltimore with 32 points, 10 in the big last quarter. Lou Hudson hit 36 for Atlanta.

Denies Report Linking Players to Gambling

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Justice Department spokesman has denied a published report that three professional football players have been linked to organized gambling.

The denial followed a report by the Cleveland Press that it had learned that connections between three players and an interstate gambling operation had been unearthed as a result of raids federal agents made in Cleveland and other Ohio cities late last year.

"The Justice Department has no evidence linking any professional football players to any organized gambling activities," Robert L. Stevenson, a department spokesman, said Thursday.

"We have no plans to subpoena any professional football players in Cleveland before any grand jury."

The Press did not name the players it said were involved.

Petty Has Pole Position at Riverside

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Richard Petty has the pole position and a group of Southern Californians own Riverside International Raceway where the Randleman, N.C. driver will head a 40-car field in Sunday's $100,000 Motor Trend 500 stock car race.

Petty earned the No. 1 spot Thursday with a speed of 107.084 miles per hour in a 1971 Plymouth, fastest of 15 qualifiers. Fifteen more drivers were scheduled to qualify today and 10 more on Saturday.

Les Richter, former football star with University of California and the Los Angeles Rams, announced Thursday that American Raceways has sold its 48 per cent of Riverside stock to Sunnymead Land Investors — a corporation of four Southern Californians.

Kickoff is set for 4:45 p.m. (EST), early enough for mainland viewers who will be watching the silver anniversary of the Hula Classic live via satellite.

Senior Bowl Makes Pros of Players

By ED SHEARER

Associated Press Sports Writer MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Lynn Dickey and Dan Pastorini, a pair of outstanding passers for the North, will face a crack Southern defensive unit that includes seven members of the Associated Press All-American football teams Saturday in the 22nd annual Senior Bowl game.

Dickey, the Kansas State star who passed for 2,163 yards this year and 6,208 in his career, and Santa Clara's Pastorini, who accounted for about 4,000 aerial yards this season, each are considered prime professional prospects and should go high in the National Football League draft later this month.

However, the explosive Yankee attack could find it difficult to move against the South defense led by All-American end Bill Atessis, a 257-pounder from Texas, and second unit All-American tackle John Sage, who was brilliant in Louisiana State's Orange Bowl loss to national champion Nebraska.

Other All-Americans on the South defense are second teamers Jack Youngblood, an end from Florida, and linebacker Rick Kingree of Tulane and third teamer Larry Willingham, a back from Auburn whose punt return provided the winning margin in last week's Gator Bowl game.

Linebacker Ronnie Hornsby, a 232-pounder from Southeastern Louisiana College, and Richard Harris, a 265-pound tackle from Grambling, were first teamers on The AP Little All-American squad.

Kickoff for the Senior Bowl is set for 2 p.m. EST. The game will be televised nationally (NBC). A capacity crowd of 40,000 is expected.

The South attack will be triggered by quarterbacks Leo Hart of Duke and Scott Hunter of Alabama, who combined for about 11,000 career yards in the air.

But most of the real damage could come from a trio of running backs—All-American Don McCauley of North Carolina, Dave Abercrombie of Tulane and Mickey Zofko of Auburn. McCauley gained 1,720 yards in 1970, cracking O.J. Simpson's single season NCAA rushing record.

Hart and Hunter will be passing to a trio of speedy wide receivers—Wes Chesson of Duke, Frank Lewis of Grambling and David Smith of Mississippi State.

The North Receivers have unmatched speed in Arizona State's J.D. Hill, who runs the 100-yard dash in 9.3 seconds, and Southern California's Sam Dickerson, a 9.7 sprinter.

North running backs include 1,000-yard gainers John Riggins of Kansas, a third team All-American, and Fred Willis of Boston College.

A trio of Big Eight Conference stars give the North a group of top offensive linemen, but one, all-American tackle Bob Newton of Nebraska, may have been lost Thursday when he apparently pulled a muscle in his back. Bob Bridges of Oklahoma State was added to the roster because of the Newton injury.

Other Big Eight linemen are Dennis Having of Colorado and Larron Jackson, a second unit All-American from Missouri. Weeb Ewbank of the New York Jets will coach the South team and Lou Saban of the Denver Broncos will handle the North.

Players on the two squads turn professional in this game, with members of the winning team receiving $1,500 each and the losers $1,250. In the case of a tie, each player would receive $1,375.

The South leads in the series 12-7-2.

SPORT SHORTS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS NEW YORK (AP) — John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers and George Blanda of the Oakland Raiders were named Player of the Year in the National Football Conference and American Football Conference, respectively, Thursday by the New York Chapter of the Professional Football Writers Association of America.

The veteran quarterbacks, selected in a ballot of the chapter's membership, will be honored at the New York writers' annual banquet on May 24, along with the "Superman of the Super Bowl."

WAYNE W. BARHAM

KEFLAVIK, Iceland—Technical Sergeant Wayne W. Barham, son of Mr. and Mrs. D.W. Barham, Cale, Ark., is a member of the squadron that has won the coveted Hughes Trophy as the top fighter-interceptor unit in the U.S. Air Force for 1970.

Sergeant Barham is an aircraft maintenance technician with the Aerospace Defense Command's 57th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron at Keflavik International Airport, Iceland.

Flying supersonic F-102 Delta Daggers, the 57th patrols the North Atlantic as the front line of air defense guarding the approaches to the northeastern U.S. and Canada.

The unit was cited for its outstanding record of intercepting and identifying a large number of Soviet aircraft constantly testing the U.S. air defense responses.

The trophy, donated by Hughes Aircraft Corporation, was created in 1953 to recognize the importance of outstanding achievement in the aerospace defense mission.

Sergeant Barham has completed a year of duty in Vietnam. He is a 1955 graduate of Cale High School. His wife, Betty, is the daughter of Neil Fore, Rt. 6, Prescott, Ark.

LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M. D.

Not Menopause Exactly But a Like Phase for Men

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would like to know something about menopause. Do men have menopause years the same as women? Would they have symptoms to want to cry and get depressed?

Dear Reader—There are different opinions about this. The middle-age years are sometimes very difficult for men as well as women. It is a time in life when a man may feel his responsibilities are closing in on him with increasing demands from the family for financial support and most of all the realization that many goals of earlier years are never going to be achieved. It is a time when men realize that they are moving into the latter half of their lives and will be looking back at more than they have to look forward to.

They begin to feel trapped—and often they are. Their manly powers begin to desert them. Sexual capacity often declines.

Contrary to popular opinion, men do cry. The idea that men should not cry is cultural, not physiological. In periods of despair and anguish, particularly if a man's defenses are beginning to crumble, he may find release in crying.

In many instances when a man adjusts to the realization of what his life really is and is not and he accepts somewhat less ambitious goals, he snaps out of his reaction. Far less often a man may need professional help for a depression. Alcohol often is a part of the picture and a great number of men lose control of their alcohol habit about that time in life and this compounds the problem.

Unlike women, these events are not associated with any measurable change in gland function. While a woman definitely has a decrease in hormones associated with her change in life, there is no measurable similar change in a man. Now you may call this phase a male menopause or a "situational maladjustment."

I prefer to use the term menopause for changes in gland function. In either case, whatever you call it, it is real and it calls for understanding and reassurance. A good program for ego-building helps about that time. An understanding wife who makes her man feel needed and loved can be a big help.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have hemorrhoids, in and out. The doctor tells me to have them removed, there is no cure. Is this true and what causes it? I am 63.

Dear Reader—Hemorrhoids are large, dilated veins in the rectum. Occasionally, a vein will develop a clot. These often require an incision. Other than surgical removal, most treatments for hemorrhoids are not very successful.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Jenny Lind, known as the "Swedish Nightingale," was the most popular singer in America in 1850. The World Almanac recalls that her first concert was at Castle Garden in New York City, on Sept. 11, 1850. She made an enormously successful tour of the United States under the management of P. T. Barnum, and returned to Europe in 1852.

The Reisinger team game is at board-a-match in which a 10-point win counts just as much as a 2,000-point win.

The bidding in the box is that used against George Rapee and Bill Grieve of the team that tied for the trophy last year. South's two-diamond call was what is known as "fourth suit forcing." He really had no convenient bid over two clubs. After North jumped to three spades, South knew just what to do. He used the five no-trump slam force to ask partner to bid seven with two of the three top honors. North obliged and West opened the jack of diamonds.

South won and led a trump to dummy's queen. East showed out but this didn't worry South at all. He played the ace and another heart to get back to his hand by ruffing.

Bill Grieve played his king of hearts after South ruffed. Bill wanted to get South to come back to his hand with a club after South played some more spades. Needless to say, South did just that. He played a spade to dummy's nine, cashed the king and led a club. Bill ruffed and South was down one.

Now let's see what Dinoisi and Lewis did at the other table. They reached seven spades the same way, but Harlow Lewis who sat South went to seven no-trump in an effort to win the board by 10 points. He counted six spades, five clubs plus two aces.

This could not be beaten and it became a 2,320 point pick up for the same one board a 10-point gain would have won for him.

DICK KLEINER 'Earth II' Film Has Message

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)— It's science-fiction at its best. There, sitting on an MGM sound stage, is an astropolis.

What is an astropolis? It is a space station, only not like your average space station. This is a whopper, big enough to house 2,000 people, of all races and nationalities and both sexes.

Gary Merrill was giving commands, as the control room window behind him reflected (via rear projection) shots of the planets passing by in noble array. And Mariette Hartley and Inga Swenson were standing there, too, because every self-respecting space station must have a couple of lovely ladies standing there.

Tom Gries, the director, came over and said he doesn't like science-fiction.

"Science-fiction," he explained, "doesn't postulate any reality. Generally, it's the chicken who becomes president, and that kind of thing doesn't appeal to me. But this one is a little different."

"All this (and he gestured behind him, to the space station) is real. It's on the drawing board at North American."

Two distinguished scientists—R. Buckminster Fuller and Krafft Ehricke—are serving as technical advisers for the film, which is called "Earth II." This is a movie-for-television, and, hopefully, a new TV series in the future.

"Earth II" is the designation of the space station, which is so big and important that it becomes a member of the United Nations. It is designed to be a bit more than an adventure story—there are no Lost in Space monsters or Star Trek weirdos. The aim here is to entertain, but do a little more—comment on the state of our world.

"I hope this goes," Gries said, "even though I generally don't like science-fiction. This has more to say than the average television show."

Gries is a busy director in town—his last few were "Will Penny," "100 Rifles," "Number One" and "The Hawaiians"—and he said he turned down three pictures so he could do "Earth II" because he liked what it says.

This is his first TV in some years, even though he used to be one of TV's

CHARLES T. MEYER III

LITTLE ROCK — Charles T. Meyer III has been elected vice president of marketing for Meyer's Bakeries Inc. by the firm's Board of Directors. He assumed the new position on January 1.

According to Fred B. Fancher, president, Meyer will coordinate all marketing activities, including promotions, sales and advertising for the Bakeries' three brown 'n serve facilities at Hope, Little Rock and Blytheville.

A native of Little Rock, Meyer is the third generation of his family to assume management responsibilities with the company. He has worked for Meyer's as a summer trainee on routes and production, served as division sales manager at the Blytheville plant and was assistant to the president before his election to vice president. In other business activities, he is a member of the Board of Directors of The Shack, Inc.

A graduate of Southern Methodist University in Dallas with a degree in finance, Meyer has also studied at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville and the University of the Seven Seas. A staff sergeant in the Arkansas Air National Guard, he has served on active duty in Amarillo, Tex.; Fukuoka, Japan; and Little Rock Air Force Base. In professional activities, he is vice president of the Arkansas Bakers Association and a member of the Little Rock Sales and Marketing Executives Association.

Meyer and his wife, the former Carol Ann Schmitt of Chicago, are parents of a daughter—Marley Dale. The family resides at 26 Huntington Road and attends Pulaski Heights Methodist Church.

Paul Brown Named Coach of the Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown has tacked on another honor to his long list of achievements that climaxed this year when his Bengals won a National Football League playoff berth.

The 62-year-old coach was named Thursday by the Associated Press as the NFL's 1970 Coach of the Year. He received 39 of 79 votes from a panel of sportswriters covering the 26 NFL teams and he beat out his runner-up, Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins, by 20 votes.

Third was San Francisco's Dick Nolan with nine votes.

"I'm happy and honored," the soft-spoken Brown said from his winter home in La Jolla, Calif. "I could accept such a thing only in the name of my staff and fine young players."

After his third-year Bengals won their first game and then dropped six straight, they rallied to claim seven consecutive contests and the Central Division title of the NFL's American Conference.

"Personally, this is my little dream come true," he said after they won the title. "This has been the most interesting and most gratifying season I've ever known."

He helped establish the Cleveland Browns of the old All-American Conference and then in his first year as coach of the Browns in the NFL, he was named coach of the year.

He led the Browns to a 115-49-6 record until he was fired in 1962. He returned to professional football in 1968 when he helped organize the Bengals and then won the old American Football League's Coach of the Year award in 1969.

Nine Killed in Bomber Explosion

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (AP) — an Air Force B52 bomber with nine men aboard—said by witnesses to have exploded in a ball of fire—crashed into Lake Michigan Thursday night off the northwest tip of Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

Coast Guard aircraft and vessels at the scene reported finding wreckage and debris from the aircraft, including two empty life vests and a helmet, but no sign of survivors.

A Strategic Air Command investigating team was to arrive today.

The eight-engine bomber was unarmed and on a training flight from Westover, Mass., Air Force Base when it crashed about 11 miles northeast of Charlevoix, an Air Force spokesman said.

Area residents reported hearing an explosion and seeing flaming debris falling into the water about 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Charles Bleha, a school teacher, said she had just walked into her darkened bedroom when she was "attracted by an orangy glow in the sky."

She said she first thought it was a sunset, but when she looked out the window toward the lake, she saw a ball of fire which grew bigger and bigger and then exploded, with flames shooting hundreds of feet.

"As the fireball settled down you could see what appeared to be other small explosions," she said.

When these died away, she said, there appeared to be two fires on the water.

Other area residents confirmed her account.

An Air Force spokesman said the plane was on a practice bombing mission over the Bay Shore radar bombing scoring site, located on a hill overlooking the Little Traverse Bay about eight miles north of Charlevoix.

dropping anchor in Alexandria Dec. 31.

The United States keeps close check on Soviet arms shipments to Arab countries, particularly Egypt, because of Washington's pledge to maintain a military balance—particularly in air power—between Israel and its enemy neighbors.

At present, Syria and Egypt together are reporting to outnumber Israel in fighting aircraft by about 2 to 1. But the skill of Israeli pilots makes the actual air power gap much closer, in the view of U. S. military experts.

The same sources, meanwhile, discounted reports the Russians have provided Egypt new shipments of surface-to-surface bombardment missiles with ranges of up to nearly 100 miles.

The U. S. experts regard such missiles as essentially long range artillery, but less effective because, they contend, these rockets are much less accurate than guns.

Such missiles, they say, would be useful against massed targets or sizeable groups of structures, but they have relatively slight effect against the type of targets in the sparsely settled desert of the Sinai Peninsula.

The Russians gave the Egyptians bombardment missiles about the time of the 1967 war, it was said, and have furnished some similar weapons since then, but not recently.

allowance has been referred to as a patronage fund, which legislators used to pay their pages and meet other expenses. The money is in addition to each legislator's monthly salary and the $20 each receives for each day the legislature is in session.

House patronage erupted into controversy during the 1968 governor's race when it was revealed that five members of the family of Rep. Marion H. Crank, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, had been carried on the House payroll. It was disclosed in 1969 that payments were made from the patronage fund to the mother of Rep. J. C. Dawson of Conway although she was in a nursing home.

Under the proposed changes, House funds would be used to pay pages, but the proposal would limit to six the number of days a legislator could spend a page at House expense.

Students Have Goodwill Party

On December 23rd, the Hope High School Student Council held its highly successful Operation: Goodwill Christmas Party with about 85 children participating.

The children were greeted at the door and received name tags from Council members Sandra McFarland, Rebecca Stuart, and Jill Herring. After playing a few games they were entertained by the very talented HHS Madrigal Choir, under the direction of Miss Juanita Nicholson.

Following a brief talk by the Rev. Norris Steele, of the First United Methodist Church, on the true meaning of Christmas, games were played and refreshments of sandwiches, cupcakes, cookies and soft drinks were served to all present. Then came the big announcement that Santa had arrived. Santa made his way to the Christmas tree and personally handed gifts to the children. Each child received between nine and ten dollars worth of toys and a stocking stuffed with apples, oranges, and candy, etc. The stockings were hand made by Mrs. Santa Claus with the help of the Student Council Secretary Melissa Mohon.

Operation: Goodwill Chairman Mike Huckabee stated "This unprecedented project was a huge success, and reached its goal of spreading happiness to as many deserving children as possible". Commenting on whether or not Operation: Goodwill will become an annual affair, he said "Yes, I'm sure it will. The involvement and morale of the many students was almost enough to carry out the project again next year, but the thing that really decided its' future was the satisfied grins on the small children's faces as they received their gifts from Santa himself". Huckabee added "That alone was worth every bit of work and effort put into this project".

The Operation: Goodwill Christmas Party climaxed about two months work beginning early in November when the O-G Committee consisting of Alan Foster, Kenneth Ellis, Richard Stuart, Melissa Mohon, Sandy Flowers, and Mike Huckabee—chairman, met and planned the entire project.

The Student Council would like to again thank everyone who had a part in this worthwhile project, and especially the Hope Lions Club who donated $400.00 to this cause, and most of all the students of HHS who worked so hard to make someone else's Christmas become a reality—not just a dream. The Student Council President is Tommy Holt, and the advisors are Mrs. W. A. Williams, Mrs. Thomas Jordan, Mrs. Joe Watkins, and Mrs. B. B. McPherson.
